MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The primary objective of the Guardian Managed Balanced Portfolio (the “Fund”) is the achievement of a balance between long-term growth of capital and reasonable income through diversified investments in equity or equity-related securities and in fixed-income securities, either long-term or short-term. The Fund invests in securities of other investment funds managed by Guardian Capital LP, and may also invest in other securities, including exchange traded funds, to achieve its objectives.

The Manager uses strategic and tactical asset allocation to create a portfolio diversified by investment style, asset class and geographic region, with an emphasis on growth of capital. The portfolio generally includes exposure to Canadian equities, developed market global equities and investment grade fixed-income securities. Currently, the Fund’s long-term asset mix policy is 60% stocks and 40% bonds, with cash reserves incorporated in these two asset classes. If the asset mix between equities and bonds varies by more than 15% from the long-term mix, the Fund is normally rebalanced. The Fund may be exposed to derivatives, used for hedging or non-hedging purposes, through its investments in underlying funds.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in the Fund remain as discussed in the prospectus. The Fund may be suitable for investors with a low to medium tolerance for risk, particularly those who seek diversified exposure to equity and fixed income securities and who have a medium term investment horizon.

Results of Operations

This commentary is based on the performance of Series I units of the Fund. Returns for other Series of units may vary, largely due to differences in fees and expenses. Please refer to the Past Performance section for specific Series level performance details. Please note that this Fund invests all, or substantially all, of its assets in other investment funds [the “Underlying Funds”]. Individual securities referenced in this commentary may refer to the securities held in one of the Underlying Funds, and not necessarily as a direct holding of this Fund.

The Fund’s net asset value increased by 19% to $82.8 million at December 31, 2024 from $69.4 million at December 31, 2023. Of this change, an increase of $12.8 million was provided by investment performance, net of fees and expenses, and an increase of $0.6 million was attributable to net subscriptions.

Series I units of the Fund posted a return of 18.5% for the year. The Fund’s blended benchmark, 40% FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index, 30% S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index and 30% MSCI World Index (Net C$), returned 16.6% for the same period. The Series I return is after the deduction of fees and expenses, unlike the benchmark’s return.

While it may not have been a matter of smooth sailing on calm seas throughout 2024, the backdrop of sustained growth, moderating inflation and declining policy rates supported a historically solid year for global stock markets in aggregate, with the Developed Market equity benchmark, the MSCI World Index, turning in its best year since 2013 in Canadian dollar terms and sixth best in the last 55 years, and recording back-to-back gains in excess of 20% (net CAD) for just the third time since 1970. The solid overall gains, however, mask significant differences across markets, with the US again handily outperforming the increases in Canada and Europe, Australasia & the Far East — and even within the US, there were significant disparities among segments of the market, as a narrow number of sectors and stocks accounted for the bulk of the performance. For bonds, performance was more modest, though still positive, as concerns over upside risks to inflation and fiscal sustainability limited the impact of central bank easing further out the curve.

The Fund’s continued tactical overweight toward Equity, and particularly top-performing Global Equity, and underweight to Fixed Income (the relative laggard) resulted in positive contributions to performance from asset allocation.

The strong relative performance of the Guardian i³ Global Quality Growth Fund, Guardian U.S. Equity All Cap Growth Fund, Guardian Canadian Focused Equity Fund and Guardian Canadian Equity Fund made positive contributions to the Fund's performance versus its blended benchmark. The bias toward credit in the Fund's Fixed Income allocations also proved accretive, particularly the positions in the Guardian Investment Grade Corporate Bond Fund. These positive security selection effects were partially offset by the impact of the continued narrow market leadership that factored into the more prominent global equity strategies to which the Fund was exposed (the Guardian Fundamental Global Equity Fund and Guardian i³ Global Dividend Growth Fund), which underperformed and made a notable negative contribution to performance relative to the Fund's blended benchmark.

While there was little by way of material shifts in the Fund's asset mix in the first half of the year, the Manager did make some changes in the second half of the year. Most notably, the decision was made to focus Fixed Income allocations more toward credit exposure near the middle of the curve, as these bond issues were viewed to offer good risk-adjusted prospects in an environment where the yield curve steepened due to lower policy rates and longer-term bonds remaining anchored by the fiscal uncertainty associated with the regime change in the US. The US Election also appeared to skew risks to the outlook in favour of the US relative to its international peers, supporting a preference to add exposures to US equity mandates, as well as to those focused on Canadian stocks — though Canada's reliance on trade with the US may be a source of uncertainty; the potential for strengthening momentum in the US would benefit Canada, while a weaker currency could give a lift to corporate bottom lines.

Overall, the Fund's asset mix remains overweight Equity, with a bias toward Global Equity, and a focus on quality growth strategies that stand to benefit from a market environment of modest positive (and US-led) global growth, set against an ongoing moderation in general inflationary pressures that would permit central banks to continue on with their policy easing cycles. In Fixed Income, there remains a skew in favour of high-quality corporate credit, for which carry and spreads remain attractive, and duration remains below that of the broad bond market index.

As this Fund is a fund-of-funds, it does not directly engage in proxy voting or active engagement, this is conducted by Guardian Capital LP as the Manager of the Underlying Funds, which are related issuers. The Manager integrates ESG considerations into its investment analysis and stewardship activities with the objective of enhancing long-term investment performance. ESG considerations are evaluated for material financial impact on a company's sustainability and business operations, but which may have a limited role in investment decisions for the Fund. The consideration of ESG issues is only one of a number of elements in the portfolio construction process and may or may not have a material influence on portfolio composition at any given time. Active engagement and proxy voting are a core part of the Manager's stewardship approach, and the Manager participates in these activities in a manner suitable to the asset class and Fund. Certain securities, such as derivatives, cash, money market instruments, bonds, asset-backed securities, commercial paper or other similar instruments, may not be subject to ESG considerations due to the nature of such instruments.

The Fund's ESG characteristics and performance may change from time to time. Please review the Fund's prospectus for more details on how the Fund's investment strategy incorporates responsible investing considerations and the associated risks. For more information, the Manager posts its annual proxy voting reports, along with an annual Responsible Investing Report and its Responsible Investing Policies on its website:

Recent Developments

On April 30, 2024 the Fund commenced offering Series A and Series F Units for distribution to eligible investors.

The baseline global outlook represents a positive backdrop for equities and history shows that positive growth and modestly declining short-term rates have coincided with the asset class' best performance.

With that said, however, the question remains of how much upside remains in the market given the strong performance seen over the last two years that has pushed global stocks up by more than 50% (and US equities by nearly 70%)?

For starters, the narrow market performance coupled with a broader improvement in earnings, suggests that stocks are not priced for perfection. For example, while the MSCI World Index ended the year trading at a valuation that stood well above its longer-term average (i.e. expensive), the "equal-weighted" version of the index, in which each stock carries the same weighting (and therefore is more indicative of the average stock) trades at a valuation that is actually below average (i.e. inexpensive).

Further, the positive performance in 2024 (especially in the second half of year) increasingly reflected a fundamental earnings thrust, rather than stock price multiple expansion exclusively (even in the US, stock performance was largely consistent with the increase in earnings). With earnings momentum still tilted to the upside and global profits currently expected to post double-digit growth next year, there remains further potential for solid equity performance. The prospect of a more pro-business government and lower tax burdens in the US suggests that American exceptionalism is likely set to continue.

With that all said, the rise in geopolitical uncertainty and the attendant increase in headline risks that may come as a result of the government transition in the US, however, represents a material risk to this otherwise fairly sanguine outlook that could mean the path forward is not without some bumps.

Moreover, a particularly contrary approach to international policy going forward may well perpetuate the performance gap between the US and the rest of the world experienced over the last two years. While the likelihood is that the more onerous proposals presented on the US campaign trail, such as universal tariffs and hefty levies aimed specifically at Canada are nothing more than negotiating tactics that may not come to fruition, the threats and their negative economic consequences cannot be dismissed and will likely weigh on market sentiment.

As such, the focus for the Fund remains on maintaining exposures to high quality equity and fixed income assets that the Manager believes are able to generate positive performance should the more positive baseline outlook materialize, while also managing to mitigate the downside risks in more volatile market environments.

The regime change in the US and the accompanying uncertainty about the returning Administration's approach to economic policy, especially with respect to international relations and trade, has clouded the outlook for not just the US but the entire world. The potential introduction of new tariffs and the prospect of retaliation would have a significant impact on global growth, given that the export of goods and services across borders accounts for roughly one-third of global output. As well, the cost increases associated with tariffs and the potential implications for global interest rates add to the uncertainty, which has the impact of restraining investment and spending decisions, and the potential for repercussions that would be felt throughout the global economy and financial markets.

Related Party Transactions

Guardian Capital LP, the Manager of the Fund, is considered to be a "related party" of the Fund. The Manager is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Fund and also acts as the portfolio manager, managing the investment portfolio of the Fund. These services are in the normal course of operations and the Fund pays a management fee to the Manager for these services, based on the average Net Asset Value of the Fund, as detailed in the Management Fees section below. The Manager is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Guardian Capital Group Limited, a publicly traded firm listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

The Manager also receives an Administration Fee from the Fund, amounting to 0.04% of the average daily net asset value of the Fund, in return for the payment by the Manager of all the variable operating expenses of the Fund. The Independent Review Committee (“IRC”) has approved the Manager’s Policy for this item and the Manager relies on this approval as a standing instruction from the IRC. The Manager received the Administration Fee and paid Fund expenses in accordance with this Policy during the period.

The Fund invests all, or substantially all, of its assets in other Guardian Capital Funds (the “Underlying Funds”), which are related issuers. With respect to investments in related issuers, the Manager has relied on the approval that it has received from the Independent Review Committee (“IRC”). The approval requires the Manager to comply with its current policy and procedures regarding investments in related issuers and to report periodically to the IRC. The Manager will not duplicate management fees paid to an Underlying Fund that is a related issuer and will not pay any performance fee in respect of any investment in the Guardian Strategic Income Fund.
